To date, public comments have been considered by the planning team in the preparation of the following technical work:

- Public Involvement Program
- Issues to be addressed in the Master Plan Update
- Goals and Objectives
- Inventory findings
- Draft alternatives evaluation criteria
- Five draft development alternatives
- Draft plan for future development (demand-driven, phased approach)
- Draft Communications Plan

Reminder: Submit Comments by October 10, 2013

Public comments on the draft plan for future development requested

Public comments are still being accepted on materials shared at the September Public Open House and Online Open House. While you are welcome to submit comments at any point during the Master Plan Update process, comments on the draft plan for future development will be of most value to the planning team if received prior to October 10, 2013. Please submit comments on the Master Plan Update website: www.ancmasterplan.com/comment/ or via e-mail to contact@ancmasterplan.com. Comments will be responded to via public Comment Response Reports published by the Master Plan Update team.

AIAS Planning Study Final Report Available

New document published online

The Alaska International Airport System (AIAS) Planning Study has published their Final Report online. The document covers the aviation forecast that was the basis for the Master Plan Update, and further analysis of the feasibility of relocating cargo tech stop (gas-n-go) traffic from Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport to Fairbanks International Airport. Review the document here: <http://dot.alaska.gov/aias/news.shtml#forecasts>.
